

The Kākāpō Chicks Day Out

Once in a lifetime opportunity to view
Kākāpō chicks

With less than a 150 Kākāpō left in existence, this is your chance to see three of these rare birds, right here in our backyard.

So come along and have a peak at Lisa 1 – a survivor, famous for hatching from a cracked egg held together by a bit of kiwi ingenuity, along with her friends Rakiura 2 and Heather 1. At this special event you will also watch a short video, be briefed about the Kākāpō by experts and even get the opportunity to adopt one of the chicks!

Friday 23rd May

Open to the public 11.30am – 1pm
Entry by gold coin donation
Athenaeum Hall, Arrowtown
